

NATIONAL MOTOR MUSEUM

GARAGE QUIZ

Number 3

This week's questions are general motoring questions, not specifically relating to the National Motor Museum. How many do you know? The answers will be posted on our Facebook page after the weekend. Good luck!

1. The National Motor Museum's 1967 Lotus 49 is powered by a Ford cosworth DFV engine, one of the most successful racing engines ever. What does DFV stand for?
2. Lamborghini is one of the most famous makers of exotic supercars. What did founder Ferruccio Lamborghini do before building cars?
3. What did Ettore Bugatti famously say to the customer who criticised the brakes of his cars?
4. Which manufacturer introduced a car priced at just £100 in 1931?
5. Which company was the first to market a radial ply tyre?
6. In 1964 actor Steve McQueen competed for the USA in which international motor sport event?
7. What was the first production car with fuel-injection?
8. Only one person has won World Championship titles on both two and four wheels. Who?
9. Between 1973 and 1977 Ted Simon rode a 500cc Triumph Tiger 100 around the World. What was the name of the book he wrote about that journey?
10. Who is the only female racing driver to score points in the F1 Drivers World Championship?

Beaulieu