

For larger rally bookings additional facilities, such as traffic management by our approved contractor, for entry and exit may be required for your event. In these instances, extra costs may be incurred to the organiser but must be discussed and agreed in writing in advance.

Print and Publicity

For large rallies with an open invitation to participants, we will post your rally on our website in order to facilitate ticket sales - please email events@beaulieu.co.uk with information and a description of your rally plus any links that can be made with our website and in our event leaflets (subject to print deadlines).

The Beaulieu logo can be supplied for use in your own newsletters to members provided permission is obtained in advance and our corporate identity guidelines which will be supplied are adhered to. Promotional or advertising material directed at the general public must first be submitted in draft form to BEL for approval prior to publication.

Payment

For smaller rallies of under 50 cars, payment should be made in advance at least 2 weeks prior to the visit date for final numbers. Tickets can then be sent in advance to the organiser for distribution to all participants. This makes for a wifter and easier access on the day. No additional ticket sales will be available on the day for small rallies.

For larger rallies whereby BEL sells tickets in advance no additional payment is required in advance and all additional charges, when applicable, will be invoiced immediately after the event.

If private catering or extra facilities are booked, a deposit may be required in advance of the date of your event.

For rallies setting their own admission rate above our rally charges, the difference will be paid to the rally organiser/club post-event once both parties have agreed the reconciliation.

Exclusive Use

We are unable to offer exclusive use of the Beaulieu attraction facilities and we may book more than one event to take place on the same day. Certain areas are available for private use, please enquire for more details.
